

Celebrating clinical excellence at St Mark's

St Mark's Sarah Marshall has been elected as one of eight councillors to the British Society of Gastroenterology (BSG) – the first nurse to hold this position. In her role as Clinical Programme Manager, she will represent the society’s 4,000 members, contributing to its strategic direction, training, and research efforts. Sarah has also been appointed a trustee, supporting the governance and innovation agenda of the BSG. Congratulations to Sarah!!!

Horizons In Intestinal Failure

Last year, our ‘Horizons in Intestinal Failure’ course was sold out for in-person attendees. This 3 day course provides a deep focus on Intestinal Failure, rehabilitation and HPN and only happens once a year. If you want to avoid any disappointment, then please make sure you book early for this popular course.

The in-person experience for this course is a chance to network and connect with like-minded professionals. And we have the 'Intestinal Failure' book by Jeremy Nightingale to give away for in-person attendees only.
